Samurai Zero: Samurai Zero: Night of Death is an incredible old school side scrolling action-platformer and is the story of Vlad, a Vampire. Vlad awakens after years of sleep to find his possessions have been stolen. And now he wants them back! The object of the game is to solve puzzles in order to retrieve Vlads stolen possessions and bring them back to the castle, and also by avoiding enemies such as Police men, rats and drips of toxic goo. At certain points during the night you may run into some people. These people can be eaten to increase health (and may also drop an item!). People will run at the very sight of you, and the police will quickly run and try to beat you to death. Pressing the Transform key will change you to Human form and will stop you from being detected! Dead of Night also uses a day/night cycle (of sorts!). As Vlad is a vampire, he can only stay out at night, and as such must either retreat to his castle or find some other way to evade the sun. Features: - Two Game modes - Arcade (Eat-Em-Up) and Story Mode - Two Story Mode Quests - with their own items, characters and settings - Over 165 Unique Rooms to Explore - Original Soundtrack and Sound Effects - Original Commodore 64 Inspired Graphics - Original Story and Script About The Game Rope's to Recovery: Rope's to Recovery: Rope's to Recovery: This Game is a platformer with the whole idea to tell a little story. A small rescue mission? Say no more. Your objective is to get a cat named Handyman and his tools from the trunk of a car that was stolen! The car is damaged, obstacles are everywhere and the thieves have stolen Handyman's tools. But hey, not to worry, just keep going, keep trying and you will find Handyman! Features: - Two Game modes - Arcade and Story Mode - Two Story Mode Quests - with their own items, characters and settings - Over 150 Unique Rooms to Explore - Original Soundtrack and Sound Effects - Original Commodore 64 Inspired Graphics - Original Story and Script About The Game Garbage Truck Madness: Garbage Truck Madness: Garbage Truck Madness: In the mighty land of Asia lies a dim, dingy town known as Stinky Town. Fractionation of copper and zinc in commercial liquid laundry concentrates. High performance liquid chromatography (HPLC) was employed to determine metal concentration and chemical forms of Cu and Zn in different commercial liquid laundry concentrates. The acids used for softening the clothes were generally polyphosphoric acid (PPA), polyphosphoric acid containing CaCl₂ (PCPA) and citric acid. The concentrations of Cu and Zn in these commercial concentrates were from 1.6 to 16.3mg/L for Cu and from 1.5 to 4.2mg/L for Zn. The metals were eluted mostly in form of phosphate or citrate with small amounts of other chemical forms such as sulfate, EDTA or chelate. When citric acid was used, the concentration of Zn in solution was lower than that in samples containing PPA.

Synthesis of novel PEGylated glycosides of coumarin and indocyanine green. In this paper, PEGylated glycosides of coumarin (Cou PEGs) and indocyanine green (ICG PEGs) were prepared with glucose, lactose, maltose
